Aircraft and seating plans

KLM offers a wide variety of aircraft in various cabin configurations. In general, KLM aircraft are deployed according to passenger supply and demand per market, and according to aircraft availability. These factors may vary per season, per day and, for some destinations, during the day.

On the majority of flights, KLM operates two cabin classes: Business Class or World Business Class and Economy. On a number of destinations, however, only one cabin class is offered. Information on most frequently used seating plans can be found on the pages hereafter. Your travel agent or local KLM office can give you more information about the type of aircraft or cabin plans that will probably be scheduled for your flight. You can also select your preferred seat at time of reservation.

The following is a general survey of the geographical deployment of aircraft types operated by KLM.
